LIBERAL ARTS ROXBURY

Kevin Bewersdorf
Public Doman
October 10, 2020—January 10, 2021
Opening reception, Saturday, October 10, 3-5pm

Liberal Arts Roxbury is pleased to announce Public Domain, a solo exhibition of works by Kevin Bewersdorf.

Comprising a series of photographs taken in Central Texas and the suburbs of Chicago during the final years of the Bush administration, the photographs present a melancholy and banal portrait of American life at that time. Also featured in Public Domain are select works from Bewersdorf's series GEARt.e.k. Corporation (2002-2006), a satiric corporate entity, featuring an energetic promotional video, stock certificates, and Bewersdorf as the company's young tech CEO.

The opening reception for Public Domain is Saturday, October 10, 3-5pm, and is free and open to the public.

Coinciding with the exhibition's opening, the gallery will release its first publication, Public Domain: Portraits of American Life (2004-2008), with essays by Kevin Bewersdorf, Nathaniel Hitchcock, and Kevin Moore.

Liberal Arts Roxbury would like to thank the artist, Carl Eckett, Jesse Greenberg, Mike Smith and Bee Gray, for their invaluable support in the production of this exhibition.

Kevin Bewersdorf (American, b.1980) lives and works in New Kingston, NY. He holds BFA from the Rhode Island School of Design. His work was the subject of multiple solo and two person exhibitions at And/Or Gallery, Dallas, TX. He has performed works at the New Museum, NY; The Issue Project Room, NY; MoMA P.S. 1 VW Dome, NY; and The Kitchen, NY, in collaboration with Olia Lialina.

As an actor, he appeared in films including, LOL (2006), Uncle Kent (2011), Computer Chess (2013), and most recently, Build the Wall (2020).
